

This Week...

Week Ending 4th December 2009

Another blustery week at pre-school this week, but do we let that get us down.....

We've been out in that rain splashing, getting things dirty, then getting them clean again. We've made a road on the floor with lots of us helping to colour it in. We had another sensory sensation with Laura - this time Christmas: songs to listen to, a little LED tree to look at and touch as well as mince pies, Christmas Pudding and chocolate to smell and taste, Mmmmmmmmmmm.

Notes going out next week regarding Jack and the Beanstalk and the Christmas Party and play. - Keep an eye out...
